In-The-Moment Conversations™

The Missing Conversations Needed Before It's Too Late

This book is for Scale Ups facing the complexity of growth. Transform friction, confusion and underperformance before it's too late; that is, before the stakes are high, disengagement rises, and performance slacks off.

- Discover how to raise the quality of conversations to accelerate thru conflict
- Learn the Four STEP In-The-Moment Conversations™ method
- Put into practice the Eight Accelerator Questions Guide

*“Only three things happen naturally in organizations:
friction, confusion and underperformance;
everything else requires leadership.”
~ Peter Drucker*

Friction is natural and necessary for growth, but what does it take to transform friction that shows up as either false harmony or destructive conflict into productive conflict? In this course you will learn how dynamic friction begins with In-The-Moment Conversations™ to head off destructive conflict.

Leaders whose temperament is to avoid conflict need a psychologically safe environment to speak up, be vulnerable, and stay focused on the higher purpose of the organization. Leaders whose temperament is to seek conflict are trained to listen with empathy, make it safe to be vulnerable, and learn from mistakes.
